Wayward Angel

Kasey Chambers

Well I am a wayward angel I don't suffer I don't cry And late in the night your sleeping I come to hover by your side So close your weary weathered eyes These tears are just a faint disguise Cause I am a wayward angel I don't suffer, I don't cry

Cold in the heart of winter Make your shiver make you blue I'm stay close by your window Give your blankets to hold on to So sleep my baby for a while You'll wake with the light of a mothers smile Cause I am a wayward angel I don't suffer I don't cry

I am a wayward angel I feel no sorrow I'll always carry you home I'll bring salvation Before tomorrow I'll be wherever you go

Break like a first time heartache Leaves you weaker leaves you tears Hold my hand much tighter I will walk you through these years So close your weary weathered eyes You'll wake with the light of a mothers smile

Cause I am a wayward angel I don't suffer I don't cry
