Room for Happiness (feat. Skylar Grey)

Kaskade

Sometimes I wish I never felt the influence of you Coz now I feel a disconnect, like an open wound Where you once were, there's now a stain that runs as deep as hell

But every morning when I wake I tell myself

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room fo r happiness

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room for happiness $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1\right)$

Yeah, yeah, yeah

Sometimes it's worth to have lost than to have never had at all It's a curse, to feel love and to feel it all dissolved Where you once were, there's now a stain that runs as deep as hell

But every morning when I wake I tell myself

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room fo r happiness

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room for happiness

Yeah, yeah, yeah

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room for happiness

Don't be fooled by your emptiness, there's so much more room for happiness