Running my way towards oblivion Inside my head electric insomnia In your mind I'm fed with distrust Heading for anything better than this I want to be forgotten I want you to forgive How I'm losing all this It's just the way I live Running my way towards oblivion Inside my head smokescreen's gone Leaving all this to be undone Heading for anything better than this Running my way towards oblivion Outside my head only the dark In your mind I'm the end of it all Heading for anything better than this
