

March 4

Katatonia

Left with spring alone
I withdraw from this
I lived so differently
it wasn't good enough

I was with you alone
winter was gone

Things once blurred are twice sharpened when I think of what I could have blood has left me even before you can never return a second time

I lived so differently
did it all for it but everything is now
a film on rewind