

Enough for Always

Kate Voegele

You dry my eyes with your long sleeve
Your sweatshirt's way too big on me, but it's perfect, mm, mm
You hate my taste in DVDs
When I let you drive the red GT, I get nervous
Yeah eeh yeah yah

Laying in your arms is like the first snow
Delicate yet takes my breath away
Oh say you're forever
Say that your heart's going to stay
Yeah-eh-eh-eh eh

You stubborn man I'm worse, you know
Your smile is like that country road in Virginia, mm, mm
You know you never let me win on Nintendo
And that's bullshit in my opinion
Ooh yeah eeh yeah

But you can spin my bad days into pure gold
With just the touch of your hand on my waist
Hey say you're forever and
Say that your heart's going to stay
Yeah-eh-eh-eh eh

You, you're who I love
And ooh, this is enough for always

You asked to dance and I got shy
And you said honey there's no time for excuses, mm, mm
Barefoot on Hermosa Beach
Oh we just let that ocean breeze be the music
Yeah eeh yeah yah

You're the only thing worth coming home to
And it's how I want to end all of my days

Say you're forever
And say that your heart's going to stay
Yeah-eh-eh-eh eh

You, you're who I love
And ooh, this is enough for always

You're the reason this singing heart is beating
Love, it's easy now
Summer evenings won't keep me like a secret
I won't let you down

You, you're who I love
And ooh, this is enough for always
