

Holes In My Jacket

Kate Walsh

Holes in my jacket
Keep letting the rain in
Say that you'll leave me now
What are you saying?

But I know you'll be back tomorrow
Yes I know you, you're only saying

Another night drinking now
Who is it this time?
Am I supposed to sit down alone and keep quiet for you?

But I know you don't really mean it
Yes I know you, you only say you need a friend to go talk to
Say you need a few minutes more
You say you need anything but just not me
You know you keep closing the door
You know you keep closing the door

Holes in my jacket keep letting the rain in
I stand out alone and watch
Your window plays two images of you
All that I know you'll be back tomorrow
Yes I know you, you only say you need a friend to go talk to
Say you need a few minutes more
You say you need anything but just not me
You know you keep closing the door
You know you keep closing the door

That I'm still wearing your ring
And I'm still telling you my thoughts
Though you're not listening
I'm still holding on

Say you need a friend to go talk to
Say you need a few minutes more
You say you need anything but just not me
You know you keep closing the door
You know you keep closing the door
