How Do You Leave The One You Love?

Katherine Jenkins

We've been down this road before I can't take it anymore I have nothing left inside myself to give

Still every time I see your face I'm falling back into that place Where everything to me feels like the first time

I want it to be possible I'm hoping for a miracle There has to be another way I don't want to face the truth

How do you leave the one you love? How do you rise above it all? Where do I find the strength to make it Through tomorrow when you're gone?

And what do I tell myself tonight? How can I ever make it right? How do you leave? How do you leave the one you love?

I'm so tired of being strong
I'm so afraid of being wrong
But I don't want to live a lifetime with regrets

So I have to let you go Walk away now even though My heart is telling me it's a mistake

But can I ever set you free? You've been the very heart of me There has to be another way I don't want to face the truth

How do you leave the one you love? How do you rise above it all? Where do I find the strength to make it Through tomorrow when you're gone?

And what do I tell myself tonight? How can I ever make it right? How do you leave? How do you leave the one you love?

I want it to be possible I'm hoping for a miracle There has to be another way I don't want to face the truth

How do you leave? Where do I find the strength to make it Through tomorrow when you're gone?

And what do I tell myself tonight? How can I ever make it right? How do you leave? How do you leave the one you love? How do you leave?

How do you leave the one you love?
