

Last Night I Dreamed Of Loving You

Kathy Mattea

Last night I dreamed of loving you,
Your skin so soft, your eyes so blue.
Then when I woke you were not there,
And I was left alone to care.

And I was left alone to love,
Just like the stars that shine above.
They shine so high, so far away:
I die for you each passing day.

It cannot be, it cannot be:
I cannot live in misery.
When will I hold you in my arms,
And lay by you beneath the stars?

I wish I were a shining star:
I'd catch your eye, I'd touch your heart.
And there I'd live until I die,
Fall like a tear from your blue eye.

Last night I dreamed of loving you,
Your skin so soft, your eyes so blue.
Then when I woke you were not there,
And I was left alone to care.
And I was left alone to care.

Last night I dreamed of loving you.
