

(Love Is) My Last Word

Kathy Mattea

I'm tired of this dance, we just go 'round in circles
Again and again, I'm taking a chance
Telling the truth 'cause this has to end
I'm seeing a new road, baby, you wanna go you can take my hand

'Cause I'm choosing hope, I'm walking away
I'm praying to God that it's not too late
I'm finding the strength, I'm holding peace
I'm making a stand down on my knees
You and I, love is my last word, not goodbye

I give you my word but more than that I give you my heart
All I ask in return is you do the same, it can't be that hard
And beside myself now, baby
Asking for help and a brand new start

'Cause I'm choosing hope, I'm walking away
I'm praying to God that it's not too late
I'm finding the strength, I'm holding peace
I'm making a stand down on my knees
You and I, love is my last word, not goodbye, not goodbye

Goodbye won't win this fight
Goodbye won't make one thing right
I believe in you and I, I've been waiting all my life

And I'm choosing hope, I'm walking away
I'm praying to God that it's not too late
I'm finding the strength, I'm holding peace
I'm making a stand down on my knees
You and I, love is my last word, love is my last word, not good bye

I'm choosing hope
I'm walking away
I'm choosing hope
I'm holding peace