

Hungry Still

Katie Herzig

One two three
Is this where the rainbow ends?
In this pile of emptiness
I've been holding out for the wind once again.

You rule over my life.
This handsome king without a promise of anything.
I just assumed that you would love me too.

I've been holding out for you
I've been setting this table for two
And I'm hungry still
I'm hungry still

Hoo hoo hoo

Have your cake and eat it too
While the others starve as they look at you.
They can't see the feast in front of them, they just see you.

Wasted time for a washed out world
Some place I could have been 10 years ago
It was a close close call wasn't so close at all.

I've been holding out for you
I've been setting this table for two
And I am hungry still Oh I am hungry still

Ahah

But it wasn't you no, it was me
You just happened to be standing in front of me
It wasn't you no, it was me
You just happened to be (happened to be) you were standing in front of me
In front of me

So close your eyes and go to sleep
While I tell you this little story
Of a girl who couldn't get the world to love her

Until she found in her own hand
A love she never even knew she had
It cost a fortune to find a love so free

She's been holding out for you
She's been setting her table for two
Just like I'm holding out for you
And I'm hungry still
And I'm hungry still
Hungry still

Ah hoo hoo hoo
