

I don't wanna hurt you
I just wanna be your friend
Even though we draw our lines with very different ends
Do you believe me
Have I even earned your trust
To ask you for it now, would it ever be enough
With all the words to say
Surely we can find
A place to leave our past behind

Oh our worlds collide
When they can't survive
On their own precious lies
Oh we make mistakes
Find what it takes
And make an honest try

Searching for an answer
Searching for a common ground
Searching for a place to stand
That doesn't tear you down
Can you even see me
Would you look me in the eye
Or will it just remind you
We're living in a great divide
Are you looking for a truth
Are you looking for a sign
Or are you looking for your own kind

Oh our worlds collide
When they can't survive
On their own precious lies
Oh we make mistakes
Find what it takes
And make an honest try