

Little Loneliness

Kay Starr

It took a little loneliness
To make you realize
That all the mean things that you did
To me were so unwise

(It took a little loneliness)
To make you feel my dear
The way my poor eyes burned each time
You made me shed a tear

I did everything I could
To please you night and day
But you cheated and you lied until
You drove my love away

Now a little loneliness
Is all that you possess
You've lost the one who tried so hard
To bring you happiness

But someone knew that you'd turn to
Had made you feel this way
And now all you have left is Loneliness
