

He wanted your love
Claiming a single night of passion
But when push came to shove
You didn't keep your promise
Turning his desire to obsession

Did you believe you could lead him on
Like you said
And he would simply take his loss
Forgive and forget
Just like that

You betrayed his trust
You played and lost
For the world's gone deaf
To the tales that you're telling
Now isn't it sad?

Oh Cassandra
You ignited the fire
Did you know your fate was sealed
When you backed out off the deal
Oh Cassandra
The world's sweetest liar
There's no one to believe your warnings

And destiny was changed by just one kiss

Did you believe you could lead him on
Like you said
And he would simply take his loss
Forgive and forget
Just like that

You betrayed his trust
You played and lost
For the world's gone deaf
To the tales that you're telling
Now who's been misled?

Oh Cassandra
You ignited the fire
When you backed out on your word
The gift became a curse
Oh Cassandra
The world's sweetest liar
How can anyone believe your warnings
If destiny is changed by just one kiss