

Hold Me Forever

Kayak

Can't shake the feeling I may finally lose you
You say you're sorry but your heart's with another
Can't help believing we'll survive if we choose to
And stop denying what we mean to each other

Could you stand up and tell me you no longer love me
Would you break down and say

If you want me to tell you to hold me forever
Let me break down the walls
Won't you show you the way to your heart

Burning your bridges seems the only solution
Try to forget me but the memory lingers
You won't admit it but you're struck by confusion
Our love's too good to let it slip through our fingers

Could you stand up and tell me you no longer love me
Would you break down and say

Look me straight in the eye
Let me show you the way to my heart
