

Focused on Tomorrow

Kazzer

Movin' on why did you run and hide in the back of my mind
I played the point but now I'm catchin rebounds gone to overtime Shoes were left at my door step still emptiness remains, watchin replays in a daze hopin that I can find the ways was it a failure, You put the tape in rewind but nothin's wrong,
Except that memories are hard to erase,
I took the helm when I heard nice guys finish last, built a force field to adapt so that the times wouldn't collapse, I'm not angry or bitter just a little confused, back and forth an
In and out ride, to bad I caught you offside, and this time it seems I'll let it happen in fact, I should probably let you go, but I'll be here when you come back cause

I'll be here for you today even when you run away
Cause when you run away my eyes will stay focused on tomorrow
Even when you slip away there's no need to be afraid
Cause when you run away my eyes will stay focused on tomorrow

I know its been a while since your smile invaded my space
A place in my heart was set aside to make chase Open up the locked rooms where you keep your reasons in, Maybe I can understand and try to comprehend where your comin from and where you're going am I too controlling trying to hold you down but really I'm just tryin to help you up Contradictions of emotions while you stand motionless Put my pride aside and let it slide avoid the arguments See I'm not angry or bitter just a little confused, back and forth
an
In and out ride to bad I caught you offside, and this time it seems I'll let it happen in fact, I should probably let you go,
but I'll be here when you come back cause

She'll be leavin tomorrow, she'll be leavin tomorrow