

I'm Telling You Now

Keb' Mo'

So much has been unspoken along the way
Hearts have healed and hearts have broken in the pain of yesterday
Gone are the shadows and vanished in the night
Let your heart surrender, let your soul take flight
And let bygones be bygones and troubles be long gone
And if I never told you how I feel about you, I'm telling you now
We gather here together, all of our friends
In a room full of love and laughter, the healing begins
And if this was my last moment, my last breath
I'd wanna be surrounded with joy and happiness
And let bygones be bygones and troubles be long gone
If I never told you how I feel about you, I'm telling you now
And if I never told you how I feel about you, I'm telling you now