Ceasefire Negative

An acquired savor is underway Never to let it pass Facing tremors and discordance With vigor and persistence You cannot stop me from believing In things you don't understand This passion is my firm weapon To kill all mediocre thoughts Tear down these solid walls And liberate the spirits inside New dawn shall greet us all True believers of new renaissance Off the beaten path, we walk With eyes and minds wide open Confronting ignorance And counter-cultural conformity You cannot stop me from conceiving About things you don't relate to Hoping someday you will realize This war is for our good