

Rule The Dancefloor

Keke Palmer

Aaah ah, uuuh uh

Small town girl
It's a fair fight
There's more
You can see it in her eyes
She's adventurous
She just doesn't know
How to break away
She sees out in the paper
She packs her things
And headed for the city lights
All she ever wanted to do
Was dance, oh, oh-oh
Being one in the spotlight
That's what she dreamed
Then she caught the diamond ring
But all that she wanted was be some, be somebody body body
Now she rules the dancefloor, she rules the dancefloor
When the city lights glow
Now she rules the dancefloor, she rules the dancefloor
She rules the dancefloor, floor, floor
Now she rules the dancefloor, she rules the dancefloor
She rules the dancefloor, floor, floor
Now she rules the dancefloor, she rules the dancefloor
She rules the dancefloor, floor, floor

All she ever wanted to do
Was dance, oh, oh-oh
Dreams of being in the spotlight
Shut them there
Then she caught the diamond ring
And all she really wanted was to be somebody

Small town boy
Dreams of big life
Mama's baby
Daddy doesn't understand
He's in this above to everything
That's so loud in here
Sees the flashlight before him
Packs his things and heads for the city lights

All he ever wanted to do
Was dance, oh, oh-oh
Being one in the spotlight
That's what his dreams
Then he caughts the diamond ring
But all that he wanted was be some, be somebody body body
Now he rules the dancefloor, he rules the dancefloor
Now he rules the dancefloor, he rules the dancefloor
He rules the dancefloor, floor, floor
Now he rules the dancefloor, he rules the dancefloor
He rules the dancefloor, floor, floor
Now he rules the dancefloor, he rules the dancefloor
He rules the dancefloor, floor, floor

Be somebody body body body
