

Impossible

Kelly Clarkson

Just woke up and thought I'd try
Try to step across the line
You know that I've been thinking 'bout it for a while Yeah
Starting to think it's time I leave
Does me good to know I finally feel Feel this pain, it's real, it's possible

You say
Can't change the winds you say
Won't matter anyway
Can't reach that far
Cause it's impossible
Can't rise above this place
Won't change enough, so I pray
Breaking down the walls to the impossible

Walking by myself I know
This lonely road's becoming my new home but I don't stop
I just keep moving on, and on Ain't no need to dry my eyes
I haven't cried in quite some time
Everyday I fight it,
You know it's possible

Someone tell me Why it's so hard taking chances
You draw the line and think That I won't ask for more Yeah
I will stumble and I make my own mistakes Yeah but I won't worry about it anymore It's impossible