

I Can't Wait

Kelly Osbourne

Turned the page between the lines
I could read it so clearly
And every word so defined
Turned my heart to weary
Pressed against an ear to wall
While everyone kept on racing
My eyes were closed my mind was shut
But I could feel my body pacing
I think I'm falling
I think I'm falling

I can't wait to be back home
A feeling you will never know
I can't wait to be alone
It seems like it was so long ago

All this time from day to day
The minute pass you'll be watching
I bare the pain the final frown
Constantly still knocking
Everything is so obscure
It's hard to tell but im reaching
The thrill is gone but after all
If looks could kill
I'm still breathing

I can't wait to be back home
A feeling you will never know
I can't wait to be alone
It seems like it was so long ago

I never knew there were stranger shades
Fading fast from night to day
