

The darkness is closing in.
My old friend returns again.
So sick of this same old skin.
The darkness is closing in.

Every time You touch me I get lost inside the moment
I am taken far away from this place.
You become the sunlight and I close my eyes to feel You,
All the warmth and love that You radiate.

And I come alive, I come alive, I come alive.

The rain comes, it's pouring down;
The charcoal sky and soaking ground.
In this storm I fear I may drown.
The rain comes, it's pouring down.

Take a look inside me maybe You can see what's broken
Maybe You can fix the hole in my heart.
You become the healer and I share with you my sickness
And I kiss the hands that carry my scar.

Every time it happens I am so amazed to see You,
How You meet me at the depths of my pain.
You're afraid of nothing and it fills my heart with romance,
You would search the ends of earth for my sake.