

Small

Kendall Payne

Are you lonely for a friend? Are you lonely for a fantasy?
Do you feel like talking back at me or would you like it quiet now?
Well its hard to understand, what with all my inexperience You say I've lost my innocence, but I haven't missed it if it's gone
Would you kindly take my hand feel it pulsing with complexity
The days are dawning dark on me since you been round you brough t me down to your size

You're so small no one can fit inside your world

And it kinda makes me mad, but it mostly makes me sad for you
The hoops that you keep jumping through will trip you up or bre ak you down
When you find yourself alone when they've all betrayed and brok e your trust You'll see the truth inside of us was always there, just you we re scared to believe

And you like it, you like it that way

And you want for me to hurt just like you have hurt for countle ss years
With no one there to catch your tears, it is justified in your mind
I am sorry for your chains, but I will not wear them as my own From here I think we'll walk alone but I doubt you'll find your peace of mind when I'm gone
