Here I am waiting For how long I don't know It's a long way back from where I've been But there's no where else to go So I'll stand With my face to the wind And my back to the world I'll follow you And I'll go where you tell me to go No I won't be afraid No I won't be afraid I feel your wind is moving I'm not sure where it's going But I'll let it carry me away Cause I'm not staying in this place And I won't turn around...
