

Tomorrow

Kenny Lattimore

Had so much to give you, had so many plans
For our future happiness, isn't that the role of a man
I knew that I could provide everything you need
All I wanted was a little time, then to you I could commit

So, you waited on me believing in all my dreams
I didn't think I'd have to learn in the worst way

Why wait till tomorrow, you got a good thing right now Baby, 'cause tomorrow may not ever come around

You weren't too demanding, never asked for much
Didn't even mind the struggle as long as it was all about us
You wanted my mind, hey, my body and soul
But I told you to hold on, I'm still working some things out on my own

So, you waited another year despite the pain and all your tears
I wasn't sensitive enough to think you had an option

She'll wait till tomorrow, how could I have been so wrong?
Surely cause tomorrow, my, my sweet lady was gone

Now I'm living my dreams, but it ain't nothing cause you're not with me
I'm so all alone, it wasn't even worth it, no

Waiting till tomorrow, I had a good thing then Baby, but tomorrow ain't never gonna come around again

Missin' you baby, where are you, baby?
Missin' you baby, where are you, baby?