

Give It Half a Chance

Kenny Loggins

I wake up
In the middle of a dream
To an unfamiliar scene
I wonder what I fell into

Who knows why
People look for alibis
In a passing stranger's eyes
What am I supposed to do

So tonight
Tell her that you love her, tonight
The only way to know is to try
Tonight, give it half a chance

And the glow
From the bathroom down the hall
Lights a mirror on a wall
Where a stranger stares at me

Hello, stranger, where you been?
Do you still remember when?
Well, every heartache has an end
'N maybe yours is on the way

So tonight
Tell her that you love her, tonight
The only way to know is to try
Tonight, give it half a chance

One by one
Let the nights go on
And you won't need yesterday beside you
See yourself in love again
And believe in the arms you're in
Tonight

Tell her that you love her, tonight
The only way to know is to try
Give it half a chance

Tell her that you love her
Tell her that you love her, tonight
Tell her that you love her, tonight
Tell her that you love her, tonight
...