

Just the Thought of Losing You

Kenny Rogers

Two different worlds, somehow
Found a way to come together
Moving so close until now
When we find ourselves alone
So it's one more lonely night
I tried to feel like it was over

But just the thought of losing you
And the emptiness is more than I can take
Living without loving you
My senses all break down
Girl I'm lost at just the thought
Of losing you

All of my life, no one else
Ever meant enough to hold me
I've been afraid of myself
For the way I've needed you
You've been waiting much too long I know
No I don't need to think it over

Through the tears you stand beside me
It hurts too much to think of you leaving me

Just the thought of losing you
And the emptiness
Is more than I can take
Just the thought of losing you
And I close my eyes
I can't see it end this way

Just the thought of losing you
