

Jersey Girl

Kenotia

From the top I fell and landed on my face
The bottom became my place
So far under low you almost couldn't see me
Kept falling in and digging holes that were just way too deep

And tunnel vision's all I know (all I know)
True perspective never holds (never holds)
Stationery never got me anywhere
I'm broken in but breaking out of here

I'll fake it if that's what it takes to get me moving
Sometimes it takes a crash to turn around your thinking
Tell me that this time there's something out there for me
Tell me there's something

Nothing helps to call you out
It broke my legs and brought me down
Just in case blue skies were forming
It broke my neck and blacked me out
Shoved the shade in, forced it down
And tore the sky down for me

Nothing helps to call you out
It broke my legs and brought me down
Just in case blue skies were forming
It broke my neck and blacked me out
Shoved the shade in, forced it down
And tore the sky down for me

And tunnel vision's all I know
True perspective never holds
Stationery never got me anywhere
I'm broken in but breaking out of here

This time I want to feel something
It's time I feel there's something there

This time I want to feel something
It's time I feel there's something there

This time I want to feel something
It's time I feel there's something there

This time I want to feel something
It's time I feel there's something there

I want to feel
(I feel so alone)
I need to feel
(Lost it all)
I want to feel
(I feel so alone)
I need to feel

But tunnel vision's all I know
And true perspective never holds
Stationery never got me anywhere

I'm broken in but breaking out of here
This time I feel there's something there
Ten thousand clocks but now I care
I'm ripping threads I hope I tear away
