

My skin feels strange
like there's something underneath
And it's aching to be free
Try to think of something else
In my mind, imagination is running wild
I try to shut my eyes
Try to hide it with a lie
But I'm running out of time

You and I,
move at the speed of light
One step at a time,
We don't have to run
You and I,
move at the speed of light
And with our smiles,
We outshine the sun

Your skin feels strange
like there's something underneath
I can feel it's breath
Warm upon my neck
And in our minds imagination is running wild
When we shut our eyes
We're running out of time
And all of this is lies

You and I,
move at the speed of light
One step at a time,
We don't have to run
You and I,
move at the speed of light
And with our smiles,
We outshine the sun
