Sit In The Sun

The pale blue light along the coast Is one of those I miss the most There was that day You touched my hair And said, my love, it's so unfair

It's too late to sit in the sun And lately we've just begun Oh it's too late to tell everyone But lately we've just begun

The one thin light that drove the peer Seems very far when you are here There was that day You took my hand And said, my love, that's where it ends

It's too late to sit in the sun And lately we've just begun Oh it's too late to tell everyone But lately we've just begun

The pale blue light along the coast It means the one I like the most There was that day You touched my hair And said, my love, it's so unfair Keren Ann
