Having the time of your lives Happy within your disguise Watch how the child in you dies Circles inside of your mind

There is more than meets the eye Life is more than meets the eye

Strange how you got it but you're still coming back for more But I want nothing
If you think that you got it while they're treating you like a whore And I want nothing

Faking it all of the time Conscience it cuts like a knife When will you start to realize We don't have time on our side

There is more than meets the eye Hits you right between the eyes

Strange how you got it but you're still coming back for more But I want nothing
If you think that you got it while they're treating you like a whore And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing

There is more than meets the eye Hits you right between the eyes

Strange how you got it but you're still coming back for more
But I want nothing
If you think that you got it while they're treating you like a whore
And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing

Strange how you got it but you're still coming back for more
But I want nothing
If you think that you got it while they're treating you like a whore
And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing from you
And I want nothing

Strange how you got it but you're still coming back for more But I want nothing
If you think that you got it while they're treating you like a whore And I want nothing
