

This Love Doesn't Run

Kerrie Roberts

Here I am, where I stand
I never wanted to be again
I gave too much to what I shouldn't have
It took from me what little I had left

It hurt my soul fast
Is there a place where I can rest?
Where I can finally stay and be safe?

Where I know that I belong
In hands that heal me
And I know I'm finally home
In arms that won't let go

It's the love that I need
It's the love that only You can bring
And I'll never be alone
'Cause this love doesn't run
No, this love doesn't run

What I lost and what is gone
Where I've been, it doesn't matter now
'Cause I've let go of holding on
To anything that's not Your love

'Cause You're the only one I can live for
And I know that I'll never have to be afraid
Of losing what I gave
'Cause You keep me safe

Where I know that I belong
In hands that heal me
And I know I'm finally home
In arms that won't let go

It's the love that I need
It's the love that only You can bring
And I'll never be alone
'Cause this love doesn't run
No, this love doesn't run, run

I never knew that leaving You forever
I never heard the voice inside the storm
You hold my heart, You hold the world together
And only You can hold me now

Where I know that I belong
In hands that heal me
And I know I'm finally home
In arms that won't let go

It's the love that I need
It's the love that only You can bring
And I'll never be alone
'Cause this love doesn't run
No, this love doesn't run
It's the love that I need

It's the love that I need
It's the love that only you can bring
This love doesn't run
It's the love that I need
It's the love that only you can bring