My brother's blood boils in my arms

It balls my fingers into fists

It bubbles blisters burns my palms

It floods with fury, fights, and fits

It's got the good guy in me hiding

It kicks my humble heart around

It's got me fiendin' for the fire that could finish off this town

O it's got me good

It's my brother's blood on a cherry tree

It stains the bark from branch to root

It puddles thick with pits and leaves

It strains the sweetness from the fruit

It's got me looking for communion

A hiding spot off underground

An open plot I could climb into

A lighting promise in my mouth

A blackout oath I swore and meant, but couldn't conjure up again

I don't know one thing about my brothers blood

No, I don't know one thing about my brothers blood

It's my brother's blood
In my dirty lungs
On my crooked mouth
On my swollen tongue
On my fathers gun
On each strangers face
Across the bluebird sky
On every hand I shake
Night after night
On each chuckled prayer
Such sweet relief
A fistful of hair
And each desperate try for elusive peace
And every endless night
And each wasted week

All that dialogue doubling back on me
All that tangled talk
All my growing needs
It my brothers back
It's my fathers arms
It's every twisted fact in my sorry heart
My sorry heart my sorry heart

Spit and scream what's done is done Go make your peace with everyone They don't need to know about my brothers blood
