

Love Is All That Really Matters

Kevin Sharp

Everybody's trying to run away from they're pain
Trying to catch a ride on that money train
Doing all they can to get more than they got Put a little more distance between have and have not
Oh when all is said and done
All that counts is how much you love someone

You can drown in dollar bills
Get yourself a house on a hill, but
Love is all that really matters
Don't you know when your heart is full
Anywhere you are is beautiful
Love is all that really matters
Love is all that really matters

You can educate your children privately
Put them on a fast track to the Ivy League
But nothing you will ever do will make them walk as tall
Than saying I love you when they've taken a hard fall
Oh the secret to life you see
Is two gentle lips on a tear-stained cheek

You can drown in dollar bills
Get yourself a house on a hill, but
Love is all that really matters
Don't you know when your heart is full
Anywhere you are is beautiful
Love is all that really matters
Love is all that really matters

No pot of gold, no piece of the pie
Will fill you up like a heart that is opened wide
Yeah, love is all that really matters

You can drown in dollar bills
Get yourself a house on a hill, but
Love is all that really matters
Don't you know when your heart is full
Anywhere you are is beautiful
Love is all that really matters
Love is all that really matters

You can drown in dollar bills
Get yourself a house on a hill, but
Love is all that really matters
Don't you know when your heart is full
Anywhere you are is beautiful
Love is all that really matters
Love is all that really matters

Love, Love, all we need is love
Love is all that really matters
Love, Love, all we need is love
Love is all that really matters
