

My Wish Is Your Command

Kim Wilde

I just can't believe we're here Suddenly become so clear It feels as if I don't know you anymore We're living our separate lives To me this one big disguise And now it's as if we're slowly moving backwards

You cheat, you lie, you always deceive me My love has died, you gotta believe it So let's just finish what we've started.

You say that I don't understand your pain And now I'm gonna drag you down again You shattered every dream that you once had I'm telling you it's over now, it's time to make a stand My wish is your command It's time to turn my back on you baby

You gambled away your pride, revealing a darker side Proving that I don't need you anymore My trust you chose to abuse Making me feel so confused I've turned it around and I'm slowly moving forwards

You cheat, you lie, you always deceive me My love has died, you gotta believe it So let's just finish what we've started.

You say that I don't understand your pain ...

Let's just finish what we've started Make a stand, my wish is your command It's time to turn my back on you baby