Try Again

I can't see your face Hear the excuses for The mistakes that you make I've heard all your lies I don't know how much I can take Before I break I've tried to be so strong While you broke the promises All the vows that we made We know something's wrong But we carry on anyway Day by day You're the one who let me down And now I find it hard to forgive In my heart

But I'll try again To forget all the pain And love you again I'll try again Though you hurt me I know I can't let you go

How can we forget The sweetness of yesterday We just can't let it go Lost in bitterness I'm losing my self control And my soul Cos you'll be the one who let me down And now I find it hard to forgive In my mind

But I'll try again To forget all the pain And love you again I'll try again Though you hurt me I know I can't let you go

Oh why, why do we hurt each other more When there's a way Cos we never really found What we were looking for Can we try again

Cos You're the one who let me down And now I find it hard to forgive In my heart

But I'll try again To forget all the pain And love you again I'll try again Though you hurt me I know I can't let you go Kim Wilde

Ooh, I'll try again