

Human After All

Kimberly Caldwell

When the sun falls down and the lights go out after I leave it all

Voices in my head seem to say it all, human after all Realize did I, like everyone else need to slow down sometimes Get lost myself, human after all

Human after all, I can't do this anymore
Human after all, who will I be on Monday morning
When the crowd has gone away I find myself alone, I'm all alone
Human after all, human after all

These four walls crash in on me
This empty space never fails to remind me
Human after all

Human after all, I can't do this anymore
Human after all, who will I be on Monday morning
When the crowd has gone away I find myself alone, I'm all alone
Human after all, human after all

Human after all, I can't do this anymore
Who will I be on Monday morning
When the crowd has gone away I find myself alone, I'm all alone
Human after all, I can't do this anymore
Human after all, who will I be on Monday morning
When the crowd has gone away I find myself alone, I'm all alone
I find myself alone, I'm all alone
Human after all, after all

These four walls crash in on me
This empty space never fails to remind me