

Throw It Away

Kina Grannis

Oh you're so sad
You nearly cut yourself down
And all that you had
And I know that you're mad
You have to put it somewhere
You can't just hold back

You were not the one that she was looking for
But truth is maybe all your waiting brings you something more

Take your heart and break it now
You're the one who makes it count
You don't want this any how
You've got to get this out
Let the fire outside yourself
You are not the one who made this mess
No you've got to pride yourself
Take all of that is better found
You will be the one to throw it away

You can't take this back it what was given to you
This is your past
But it cannot hold you back
You're so much more than that You'll make your own path

Do I never quite could out to really show your love
Fewer hands and lesser hearts know they were not enough

Take your heart and break it now
You're the one who makes it count
You don't want this any how
You've got to get this out
Let the fire outside yourself
You are not the one who made this mess
No you've got to pride yourself
Take all of that is better found
You will be the one to throw it away

Oooh oooh ahhh ahhh
Oooh oooh ahhh ooo

Ooh You've got to get this out
Let the fire outside yourself
You are not the one who made this mess
No you've got to pride yourself
Take all of that is better found
You will be the one to throw it away
