

Have you ever chosen to ignore the warning sign
Give the benefit of doubt, just to ease your mind
Have you ever turned your head, when someone's doing someone wrong
Everyday's a new surprise

Ono, ono, some things remain the same
Some people never change, ono

Have you ever been the victim, lying to protect someone
And what they do to you, you know is wrong
Have you ever known someone, who controls with bribes and tears
Everyday's a new surprise

Ono, ono, some things remain the same
Some people never change, ono

Have you ever known someone who builds you up to let you down
Sincere apologies, sugar-coated promises
And as usual, it's everybody else's fault, ono

Ono, ono, some things remain the same
Some people never change, ono