

Hard To Believe

Kirsty MacColl

Sometimes you look so sad that I could cry
And sometimes when you get mad I want to say goodbye
But I know in my heart I could never be the one to leave
It's just that I find love so hard to believe sometimes
I try to understand all the things that you do
But sometimes I wonder why I chose a man like you
'cause you hurt me without even trying so many times
I can't help but find love so hard to believe sometimes
Sometimes I see your eyes on another girl
Then you say you love me more than the whole wide world
So I've learned to close my eyes to it and not read between the lines
It's just that I find love so hard to believe sometimes
Yes I've learned to close my eyes to it
I've reconciled my mind to it
It's just that I find love so hard to believe sometimes
I said that I find love so hard to believe sometimes
