Just a Boy

Who steers the ship through the stormy sea If hope is lost then so are we

While some eyes search for one to guide us Some are staring at me

But I'm no hero Though I wish I could be For I am just a boy, Too young to be sailing I am just a boy, And my future is unveiling And I'm so frightened of failing