

I Gave My Wedding Dress Away

Kitty Wells

Tomorrow was to be my wedding day
But I gave my wedding dress away
Another will be holding my bouquet
So I gave my wedding dress away

My baby sister wanted him
And so she took my place
It's worth the broken heart to see
The smile upon her face

I've cared for her since mother went away
So I gave my wedding dress away

Everything I ever wanted
She always wanted too
And maybe giving in to her
Was not the thing to do

I always let her have her way
Perhaps I wasn't strong
But I was all she had to turned to
When anything went wrong

She's all I have to live for
She's the only joy I ever had
And though she's hurt me many times
She really isn't bad

I saw the love light in her eyes
The day she met my Jim
Then I knew that he belonged to her
And she belonged to him

If I could win him back again
Our love would be divine
But I could never break her heart
The way that she broke mine

I'll worship him until my dying day
But I gave my wedding dress away
