I'm Just Not Smart

Kitty Wells

So you're gone again out somewhere around me And I can feel that heartache's bout to start If I was smart with you I'd quit this gambling but I guess I'm just not smart I can't help what people say I still love you They don't know and they can't see what's in my heart They keep saying if I'm smart that I will leave you but I guess I'm just not smart

Love like ours just wasn't meant for parting for it's too deep in buried in my heart I should have known not to have let it started but I guess I'm just not smart I can't help what people say...
