

My Cold Cold Heart Is Melted Now

Kitty Wells

My cold, cold heart is melted now
I seek for peace but don't know how
I go to bed but only weep
My cold, cold heart won't let me sleep
Your lonesome voice that seems to say
Your cold, cold heart will melt someday
My tears pour down like fallin' rain
Through restless sleep I call your name
Perhaps someday beyond the blue
We'll meet sweetheart and live anew
Where cold, cold hearts can't enter in
We'll laugh and love, sweetheart, again
My cold, cold heart is melted now
My once proud head now I humbly bow
Your lonely face in dreams I see
My cold, cold heart has told on me