Older

It seems like each day you get older
And each day the world becomes colder
In a cynical way
Time
Do you feel like you've missed your time?
I feel like I've missed mine
And I'm losing my way

I think it's time you realized For I can see it in your eyes You seem convinced that you will live forever

Over

I feel like my life has blown over I keep looking over my shoulder And seeing nothing but grey

It's a crime
Don't it seem like such a crime
I wish I had more time
But I'm drifting away

Older

You see it's like I told you
You've gained the right to grow older
By living today

I think it's time you realized For I can see it in your eyes You seem convinced that you will live forever