

War

Kodaline

There's a war between my head and my heart
I don't know which side to take
You made your home inside the dowry of my head
You know my heart was yours to break

And people try and calm me down
But I can never hear a sound
War, war, yeah

And there are sirens screaming out behind my eyes
I hide them away 'cause I'm ashamed
Or maybe I'm far too shy to just speak up
Or I'm afraid of what you might say

And people try and calm me down (it can only get better)
But I can never hear a sound (but you wish you never met her)
War, war yeah, war

Life, is just the way it is, yeah
The way it always was, yeah it's alright
Woah life, I's just the way it is, yeah
The way it always was, yeah it's alright

And people try and calm me down (it can only get better)
But I can never hear a sound (but you wish you never met her)
War, war, war, war
