

Saw My Friend Explode Today

Koffin Kats

I saw my friend explode today right before my eyes.
I wear his blood impatiently as if I'm waiting to die.
Brain matter chunks upon my face.
And the blood in my mouth is an awful taste.
I don't step lightly I'll be the next.
And they'll find me scattered all over the place.
Shake it shake it shake it shake it get right.
And the order on the radio says.
Hold your ground here they come.
But okay I read ya your coming in loud and clear.
A dark cloud on the horizon.
The enemies in sight and we wont take them alive.
It's all or nothing do or die and I don't care who is right.
Sounds like popcorn smells like death.
And I see the bodies burn in the sands.
I just tripped over another friend.
Alive he cried out make it end.
Shake it shake it shake it shake it get right.
And the order on the radio says.
Hold your ground here they come.
But okay I read ya your coming in loud and clear.
A dark cloud on the horizon.
The enemies in sight and we wont take them alive.
Its all or nothing do or die and I don't care who is right.
My chest burns I'm hit didn't think it'd feel like this.
Fall to my knees I curse a god.
I'm dying in a battle that is never gonna end.
Under false gods and fake religions.