

Hey You, Yeah You

Kongos

I stepped in from the cold and froze
Those big old eyes had me quivering
Shivering in my boots and clothes
One look and I knew
No turning back, no I didn't choose
Yeah you looked right through
I was putty in your hands - do what you do
Please do, do what you do

Hey you, yeah you
On the far side of the room
You caught my eye and my body
My body it followed so soon
Hey you, yeah you
There's a hole in my heart
If only you knew
Now there's one more
And it feels like
I'm breaking in two

Come back to bed, you said
But it wasn't warm
Far away with your back turned
When I wake up I'm going home
One look and you knew
That I saw your pain and I saw the truth
Yeah I looked right through
Wrong time for love
Gotta do what you gotta do what you gotta do

Hey you, yeah you
On the far side of the room
You caught my eye and my body
My body it followed so soon
Hey you, yeah you
There's a hole in my heart
If only you knew
Now there's one more
And it feels like
I'm breaking in two