

Where I Belong

Kongos

I think I need a new tattoo
I want to influence an age group
Maybe 15 to 22
They like to do what they want to

I want the right mix of innocence
And sustainable offense
My shoes are a personality
A fractal of my geometry

I wanna run through the Milky Way
Maybe disobey a cosmic ray
Weigh everything on judgement day
And see how much there is left to pay

I want my answers to be questioned
I want more than one best friend
I want money that's already spent
I wanna act as if I don't pretend, I cannot pretend

I play along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

The universe is just one song
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

I play along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

I think I need a new identity
A hotel with more amenities
Enemies keep me on my toes
That's why I gotta wear my new clothes

If I could overrule the voices
In my head making choices
Maybe then I could escape
A life spent in a dream state

I play along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

The universe is just one song
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

I play along
But I've wondered all my life
Where I belong

I wanna run through the Milky Way
Maybe disobey a cosmic ray
