Life Is Fragile

How we love To measure things How we see Ourselves supreme How we live Pathetic lives And make sure Our offspring thrives When facts are faced For the human race You will see There is nothing we can change Life is fragile Life is fragile Life is fragile Life is fragile I do think That if the planet was alive Not just lived on But with a pulse inside She wouldn't care Or even know How we all got to be so fucking low When facts are faced For the human race You will see There is nothing we can change, no

Life...

Konkhra