Time Will Heal

Spent time to mend this thing but the fire is still burning no one can touch my own next of kin, hah, everyone take care of their own

You can't take it away can't bleed me not for another day I stand for what's my own and your greedy hands won't feel just to mend this, I cannot repent shit the blood in my veins runs for myself

I am the one I can't take shit from you your candle's lit, burning at both ends it won't be long, before the flames meet and then, my friend, you'll see your lies are history

But the sun is still shining the days are light and bright with all my heart rejoice and cherish the days and the nights of my life

Time will heal Time will heal
